

ECF Notification Assurance

The Concern

“It remains the duty of the attorney for a party to review regularly the docket sheet of the case”
SDNY ECF Rule #9, cited on the first page of the NY Southern District website.

US Federal Courts hold attorneys responsible for reviewing case dockets. Not receiving an email notification does not excuse an attorney from missing a deadline. Further, on some occasions, such as docket corrections and deletions, the courts do not send ECF notifications.

The Solution

In the event that the case docket was updated and you did not receive an ECF notification email, CourtAlert ECF Notification Assurance sends a high-priority email with the information that was missed.

CourtAlert ECF Notification Assurance automatically and reliably compares the court docket to the email notifications you receive from court. No Manual work is required. Uses both CourtAlert patent-pending ECF email trapping system and CourtAlert for Pacer.

Email can be sent to any number of recipients. In addition, a daily summary reports the positive matches and any missing information. An internal web display is also available for real-time status with all the details.

Cost

Software license, maintenance and installation at no charge.

The only cost is CourtAlert for Pacer; search at the frequency you determine.
